

JUNE

TRADE NON-NATIVE PLANTS FOR NATIVE ONES

Native plants work above and below the ground to benefit our environment. Above, they provide habitat for important pollinators and other wildlife, and below their long root systems help to soak in stormwater and filter out pollutants. They are adapted to our local climate and are low maintenance so you can enjoy your garden more while it works for all of us.